ENTERPRISE MODERNIZATION & B2B STRATEGY ADVISOR

Keith Brooks is an independent B2B systems strategist with 20+ years of hands-on experience helping CFOs and CIOs navigate enterprise modernization, legacy infrastructure management, and vendor decision-making. Based internationally with advisory relationships across North America, Europe, and Israel, Keith specializes in translating complex technical challenges into clear business strategies.

Rather than selling platforms or pushing implementations, Keith gives executives an honest perspective on what to modernize, what to optimize, and how to avoid expensive mistakes. His expertise spans HCL Domino, enterprise integrations, security hardening, and B2B go-to-market strategy. Keith has been recognized as an HCL Ambassador for five consecutive years and is a frequent keynote speaker at major industry conferences. He advises startups, mid-market firms, and Fortune 500 companies on systems strategy, competitive positioning, and technical decision-making.
